CHAIRMAN'S CORNER

Summer is almost gone. That means that FCA is about to get to its normal full speed of operations soon, with Friday Night Suppers, Monthly Open houses and Brunches. Check the calendar for the dates.

As noted in my previous messages, the Board hired a lawyer to apply for 501c3 status for the Finnish Center. It should take a few months and will require some changes to our articles and by-laws. A mailing will go out regarding that shortly.

The 501.c.3 status has been more or less active since the Board voted for it for the first time in October 2008. It has undergone many phases and often it has been highly controversial. It is important that we will proceed with our application with one accord. The 501.3.c status will be critical for the planning of our future direction. Our membership is aging and is declining. Our present mode of operations is rapidly overpowering our limited resources.

Any FCA member opposed for our 501.c.3 application should raise his/her concern now. Please either call me, write me, email me or contact any of the Board Members with your concerns. Healthy discussion and debate is always welcome. Maybe there are issues and concerns that we have overlooked.

Planning of our fiftieth Anniversary celebration activities are in full swing now. This celebration includes three separate events: Folk Arts Day, Food Workshop and 50th Anniversary Jubilee (in conjunction with Finland's 99th Independence Day celebration). A mailing to support these events has gone out for donations, which will be greatly appreciated.

As always, if you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me (248) 476-6939 or (734) 834-6085, cell.

I look forward to seeing you all at the Finnish Center this fall.

FROM THE LIBRARY

FinnFest USA Cruise, New England

On our arrival in Boston on July 9th about midday, a balmy breeze, blue skies, and 64° temperature greeted us. The Veendam Holland America was waiting for us. It is an impressive 719 feet long and 114 feet wide. It accommodates 1400 guests and a crew of 581. We were told that FinnFest numbered 140. My daughter Carolyn was disappointed, as she thought that the ship was going to be packed full of “Finlanders”. We wore Finnfest tags and soon we were all friends.

Saturday afternoon was busy with a welcome program, cocktail party and an evening conversation group. We settled in for a voyage of 1557 miles over a period of 7 days.

Sunday morning was the start of a routine.

7:00 am Asaki Exercise was introduced by Margaret Väiniö and repeated each day.

8:00 am Beginning Finnish by Dan Karvonen offered each morning.

9:00 am Jack Limakka spoke to us as the representative of his State of Maine. Jack is a civil engineer who acquired his education at Michigan Tech. Jack used his engineering skills planning and bringing about anything needed for success.

The first keynote speaker was Deanna Bonner-Ganter, curator of Photography, Art and Archives of the Maine State Museum, retired. She is the author of the book Kosti Ruohamaa, The Photographer Poet.

Deanna gave us a history of how she became a teacher and after seeing some of Kosti’s photography she bought herself a camera and made a dark room out of her bath. After studying Kosti’s life, she began collecting everything she could find on his photography and wrote this book which she autographed for us. I was impressed by how she kept her cool even though the gong on ship was ringing every few minutes and the captain was apologizing. Everyone enjoyed the humor of the situation. It was a good beginning!

Beatrice Ojakangas of cookbook fame was our keynote speaker on Tuesday and Thursday. Her willing assistant, Yvonne Lockwood, asked appropriate questions which kept the presentation very lively. I do believe the two ladies have developed their own form of presentations.

About this time I realized I wouldn’t be able to see everything. We all had to slow down and make choices. Meals were our most difficult to choose. All the food was perfectly prepared and served. Where we wanted to eat was our own choice also. Deck II at the Lido Restaurant was everyone’s favorite. Casual and open with windows and seating on either side of the ship. Food was available at all times as was room service.

The most outstanding traveler was Margaret Väiniö. She offered the Asahi movement exercise every morning. In addition she lead the sing-a-longs and dance sessions, with musicians from Hyvää, inspiring others to do the same. I wondered if she was with family as she didn’t appear to be by herself. I would have liked to know her better. The FinnFest 2016 songbook contained words and music to 28 songs.

Jim Kurtti surprised us all with his amusing family history. His French Canadian background made for a very colorful lineage. Jim is a native of the Copper Country and serves as the Honorary Consul of Finland for Upper Michigan. He is director of the Heritage Center and editor-in-chief of the Finnish American Reporter.

Finnish movies were curated by William Lockwood. Each evening at 9:00 pm. The first movie was called Arvottomat (The Worthless), directed by Mika Kaurismäki, 1982, who won the Jussi Award for Best Direction for the film. It was a shock to our senses. It is a road movie about two men and a woman driving around the country as they are being chased by a group of criminals and the police. After much food for thought it was decided it might be good for anyone to see what being worthless should look like. We rare-see the seamy side of life. It makes you grateful for the comforts you have and the productive activity you are free to enjoy and accomplish. Of course we had to see all four movies each with life lessons within.

My extra reason for doing the cruise is that I have a cousin I didn't know existed until 2006 when she got in touch with me. She lives in Duluth, and while she knew about me but I had no idea who she was. I sent her the FinnFest USA 2016 announcement and eventually each of us attended with our daughters. We had so much family business to compare and even differ about. We plan to do something together every summer, God willing, as Grandma used to say. It was like a miracle to find family at this age. It seems our grandmothers on the maternal side were sisters, something else for me to research.

As FinnFest concludes each year, we want to know where and when the next year's celebration will be. That proves it has been a successful endeavor and seems to have developed its own way of continuing, in the new ideas of the American Finns.

The experience was overwhelming. I will never forget the bus tour of Prince Edwards Island with the hour and a half to walk through the House of Green Gables as the home of Ann Shirley.

Also, most memorable was the one-hour horse drawn carriage ride around Quebec City . The interpreters with whom we came in contact were all sincere with an interest in giving us all a memorable experience.

Greg Bjork, and Alexandra & Kermit Bennett of Hyvää have enjoyed playing Finnish music together over the last decade.

OFFICE HELP WANTED

Wanted part-time help in the accounting office. If you are able to donate some time, have accounting experience, or are willing to learn accounting, please contact the FCA office to volunteer. Thank you for your consideration.

SEPTEMBER IN THE GARDENS

September means back to school, Labor Day, and outdoor weddings. Due to the drought and heat the asters, goldenrod, and mums started blooming in August so who knows what will still be around come October.

The heat has been good for the vegetable gardens although watering everyday has been needed. The mid-August rains helped fill the rain barrels and hopefully the extra rain will make the fall raspberries better than the June berries.

The annuals have suffered this year as we have been unable to keep up with watering, however, native plants that are in the rain garden, scattered in various gardens, and in the wetlands have been performing well. Many of these have deep root systems and find water trapped deep underground.

Our garden associates continue to do what is necessary to keep the gardens presentable. Daniel Coleman, our youngest volunteer, is leaving for National Guard training in Georgia. However, we have a new garden associate, Jim Berentz, who formerly worked at FCA Senior Housing.

If you see cars near the woodshop on Monday morning, please drop by and join us in our projects, to chat, or have a cup of coffee.

If you have any questions or comments, or items to donate, please contact me at (734) 546-5190 or email at gaylegullen@hotmail.com.

Finlandia Garden Club President

TRADITIONAL FOLK ART DAY

We are celebrating FCA's 50th beginning on September 24, one of several days designated to celebrate the center's anniversary. This will be a celebration and reflection about the many Finnish traditions and folk arts passed on to us by our grandparents and parents, which are an important legacy and signify our heritage as Finnish Americans.

You will want to meet the participating Finnish American folk artists, who have maintained, with excellence, lovely folk traditions. The traditions will include wood carvers, fan carvers, rug weavers and braiders, knitters and crocheters. There will be opportunities to observe the artists at work and to purchase examples. Dancers will demonstrate & teach; musicians will demonstrate and explain their instruments and music; fan carver will hold a workshop. There will be a Finnish national dress fashion show and displays of various textiles and folk art. And more! Come and participate in this celebration of our rich heritage!

A Finnish lunch will be available for $6.00.

If you can volunteer to help on various tasks, such as in the kitchen, sitting at the exhibit tables, making sure the artists have all that is needed, please contact Yvonne Lockwood, Lois Makee or the cultural committee at the Finnish Center.

The doors will be open from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 pm. No admission fee.

A FINNISH TRADITIONAL FASHION SHOW

As part of our folk arts day, on September 24, we will hold a fashion show of Finnish costumes. MOTHER OF MINE, Äideistä parhain
Klaus Härö, Director, 2005

During World War II, more than 70,000 Finnish children were evacuated to neutral Sweden. Mother of Mine tells of that painful period of history in a tale about 9-year-old Eero, who increasingly feels abandoned by his biological Finnish mother and yet not attached to his Swedish surrogate mom. When he is returned to Finland, his confusion intensifies.

FINLAND TODAY

First, Norwegian Prime Minister, Erna Solberg, has confirmed that Norway is considering a proposal to commemorate the 100th anniversary of Finland's independence from Russia by moving its northern border westward in order to gift its eastern neighbor a mountain peak. The mountain peak, Halditsohkka, is 1,331 meters above sea level, and it would become the highest geographical point in Finland. Finland's current highest point is located on the same mountainside, 1,324 meters above the sea during level and no more than 40 meters east of Halditsohkka. The proposal would thereby raise the highest geographical point in Finland by 7 meters and only reduce the national territory of Norway by 0.015 square kilometers, according to Bjorn Geirr Harlsson, the father of the idea, a retired geophysicist. Finland will celebrate the 100th anniversary of its independence in 2017.

This summer was again "festival time" in Finland. Fifty-four thousand people got together in Joensuu, North Karelia during the second weekend of July for the Ilosaarirock Festival. This year the festival hosted about 100 artists and events, including film screenings, DJ performances, and a roller derby game. The festival site has five separate stages with music performances from the best of the best of the various music genres.

Ruisrock is the Grand Daddy of all Finnish summer festivals with about 100,000 avid rock music listeners attending. The 46-year-old Ruisrock is the oldest rock festival in Finland, and the second oldest continuously running rock festival in Europe. This unique festival is held on the scenic island of Ruissalo in Turku, with leading Finnish artist, and international stars. One festival that is older than the Ruisrock is the Kaustinen Folk Music Festival held in the small Osterbothnian town of Kaustinen. Next year, while Finland is celebrating its 100th anniversary, Kaustinen Folk Music Festival will be celebrating its 50th anniversary. I believe that the official Kaustinen Folk Music website says it best, "Welcome to the happiest days of the Finnish cultural summer! Kaustinen hosts the finest review of Finnish and international folk music and dance at hundreds of performances, workshops, and jam sessions in an absolutely unique festival atmosphere." Last year there were 1,300 performances, 25 workshops, and 4,000 performers. That is just three of the hundreds of festivals held in Finland every summer.

As you may guess, the U.S. has won more Olympic medals than any other country since the first modern summer games were held in 1896. But do you know what country has won the most medals per games per capita? FINLAND!!! Finland has won 2.30 medals per million population. Estonia was second at 2.29, the Bahama Island was third at 2.09, Sweden was fifth at 1.91, and the U.S. was 0.29. Finland has won medals at every summer Olympics since 1908, for a total of 303. Finland's Paavo Nurmi was one of the most successful Olympians of all time, He is the first person to win five golds at one Games, in Paris in 1924. He is just one of four athletes to win at least 9 gold medals.

Most of the medals that Finland has won in the Olympics have come from distance runners and javelin throwers, but things have really changed for the Finns. This year there are no star runners and the two javelin throwers who could possibly get a medal for the Finns are both injured. So who are the Finns who could possibly medal? Well it's led by women. One is a Greco-roman wrestler, Petra Olli, another one is a trap shooter, Satu Makela-Nummela; another one is Mira Potkonen, a lightweight boxer; and the one who probably has the best chance to get medal is a windsurfer, Tuuli Petaja-Siren. She won the silver at the 2012 London Olympics and she is the one who carried the Finnish flag at opening ceremonies at this year's Rio Olympics.

And finally, a reporter was interviewing 101 year old Hilma on the secrets of reaching her advanced age.

Reporter: Can you give us a few tips for reaching the age of 101?

Hilma: Well, for better digestion, I drink beer. In case of appetite loss, I drink white wine. For low blood pressure, I drink red wine. In case of high blood pressure, I drink Scotch. And when I have a cold, I drink Schnapps.

Reporter: When do you drink water?

Hilma: I have never been that sick.

Thanks John Aukee.

PASTIES

To meet the guidelines for the distribution of pasties from the kitchen, the FCA is investigating the purchase of a commercial blast chiller. It will allow for the rapid cooling of the pasties once they have been removed from the ovens.

As we adjust our pasty-making procedures prior to the procurement of the chiller, we will be making a limited number of pasties in September. Some of these will be available for sale at the October 1 flea market, but we are currently sold out for the September 17th bake.

The next pasty bake is scheduled for November 5, at which we will be making pasties for sale at the November 12th Scandinavian Bazaar. More information will be made available as the date approaches.

We thank you for your support in the past and ask your patience as we move forward with new equipment and methods.
